

Peace Dove Hovers Over First Meeting Of The Year

Session Very Mild One With Very Little Business of Importance To Come Before City Council

GEORGE GALLAHER IS NEW COUNCILMAN

The first regular meeting of council for 1917 was rather a mild affair, and on account of last week's meeting springing up the business for 1916 but very little was left on the slate for disposal. Heretofore council organized and elected the different borough officials annually, but since the amendment to the constitution providing that municipal elections should be held biennially and as a result there was nothing doing this time, all borough officials being holders until next year.

Tax collector Jacobs reported a appointment of Dr. W. E. Reilly as a member of the board of health to serve for a term of five years.

The matter of the vacancy caused by the resignation of John Seiler as a member of council from the First ward was taken up and Mr. Hagerty recommended the appointment of George W. Gallaher for the vacancy. The recommendation was unanimously adopted and Mr. Gallaher was declared the duly elected successor to Mr. Seiler to serve as councilman from the First ward until January 1, 1918, his successor to be elected to fill Mr. Seiler's unexpired term at the coming November municipal election.

The newly elected shade tree commission presented a list of rules and regulations for the government of the shade tree commission, as provided for in the general borough acts of 1915 and same were unanimously adopted.

Health Officer McCullough made complaint regarding condition of the Anderson lot at the west end of the Market street bridge stating that garbage was being dumped there and paper and other rubbish burned daily, much to the annoyance of persons living in the vicinity and passing that point daily. Burgess Callahan was directed to have nuisance complained of abated.

Engineer E. W. Hiss reported at length on engineering matters and stated that the sanitary sewer on Seventh street was completed with the exception of the building of one manhole, the Nichols street sewer extension would be completed in a day or two and the West Fifth avenue sewer extension started this week.

There being no further business council adjourned to meet Wednesday evening, January 17th, 1917 at 8 o'clock.

lections during December of $589.13, same having been paid to the treasurer January 1st.

Treasurer Davis reported a balance of $19,028.99 in the treasury at this time.

Street Commissioner Graham reported on street work since last meeting, which showed three sewers in process of construction and many repairs being made about the borough buildings.

Burgess Callahan was present and among other things asked council to follow up its notice to build sidewalks by the construction of the walks ordered within the 30 day limit.

The usual number of bills were presented and ordered paid.

E. M. Fallington was present and entered complaint regarding the low overhanging limbs of the shade trees along the Catholic church property on Second street and asked council to have same trimmed as they interfered greatly with the passage of his jitney bus. Referred to highway department.

War Saddens American Girls Who Married Titled Italians

Husbands and Sons of Former American Girls Are Almost Without Exception Bearing Arms

By John H. Hearley
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Rome, Dec. 13.—(By Mail)—Italy's war today lies heavily on the hearts of many American girls married to Italian noblemen. Some of these girls have given their husbands, others their sons to Savio's cause.

Princess Buoncompagni, who was Miss Draper of Boston and Washington, is spending a lonesome honeymoon here. Her husband had to rejoin his regiment immediately on his arrival in Rome.

Count Dentice del Frasso is one of the General Staff's motorcycle messengers. His wife was Georgiana White of St. Louis. She is the step-daughter of Henry Seigel, the one-time American merchant prince.

Princess Alessandro Ruspoli has two sons under arms. One is in the army and the other in the navy. She was formerly Eva Broadwood.

Countess Telfer, who was Ada Hungerford, has a son in the army. Edward Kingsland, who became an Italian citizen after his widowed mother married Prince Camporeale, has been dangerously wounded at the front. He is a cavalry officer and was decorated for gallant conduct in both the Libyan war and this war. Princess Camporeale originally was Mary Bonny, a celebrated New Jersey belle.

The son of Duchess Luigi Lante della Rovere is serving with the Italian troops in Macedonia. He is called Don Luigi Lante della Rovere. The Duchess was known to American society as Mathilde Davis.

One of the sons of Princess Poggio Saso Ruspoli is an aviator. The other is in the automobile service. She was formerly Josephine Curtis of New York.

All these titled Americans are also doing their own bit for their adopted country. Red Cross nursing and caring for widowed and orphan children are the most popular services.

But the military sewing rooms and the food stations attract their quota.

CENTRAL POWERS PREPARING NEW PEACE OFFER

Reply to Allies Refusal Will Contain List of Demands and Possible Concessions

GERMANY FACING BREAKDOWN

By Ed. L. Keen

London, Jan. 4.—(By United Press)—Persistent reports from Italy and Switzerland today that Germany is to make answer to the allied refusal of the peace offer—in a new reply which will list Germany's demands and concessions—aroused the greatest interest here today. Legano, Switzerland also has received reports of this note. From Rome came the same news and a prominent newspaper acknowledged the receipt of news from Germany that she was preparing a counter reply—"one that would be less ambiguous as to conditions and terms of peace." Both of these reports seemed to strengthen the belief with regard to dispatches of yesterday that Germany is on the brink of a social and economic breakdown which makes peace proposals absolutely necessary. One theory fairly supported in certain quarters is that the conference held yesterday between American Ambassador Gerard and Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg had to do with a further German note.

And in the same day it was rumored it would be taken away from this country and placed in Brooklyn.

LATE TELEGRAPHIC FLASHES

Taxi Man Arrested

Pittsburgh, Jan. 4.—Word was received here this afternoon that Bernard W. Lewis, a son of Wennard Lewis of Amberson Ave., East End, Pittsburgh was under arrest in Philadelphia in connection with the Colbert case. The charge against him it was said is a technical one—the defrauding of a taxi-cab company.

Lewis is connected with the Findley Lewis Coal Company. His home is 25 Amberson Ave. Efforts to get in communication with members of his family immediately were futile. The telephone operator saying that "the receiver was off its hook and they don't answer." The family is wealthy and very prominent.

Likely the Man

Philadelphia, Jan. 4.—A "flier" calling for the arrest of Bernard W. Lewis of Pittsburgh who is believed to have been in the taxi which stopped at the apartments of Maizie Colbert was sent broadcast this afternoon. The "flier" accuses Lewis of having defrauded Elwood Powell a taxicab driver of $19.00 fare. Police denied they connected him with complicity in the murder itself. Information has come to them the police said that created the belief that Lewis was in the taxi last Friday.

"Lawson Probe Tomorrow"

Washington, Jan. 4.—Investigation by the house rules committee of the leak charges will start tomorrow with Representative Wood, of Indiana, as the first witness, the committee announced today. Thomas W. Lawson who charged that $60,000,000 was cleaned up will be subpoenaed by wire.

The people of Clearfield are to be congratulated on this recognition of the work of the Health Board under Dr. Reilly's administration the past several years. No healthier spot in the country than Clearfield and that this is true is due in large measure to the unstinted labors of Dr. Reilly and his co-workers on the Health Board who have devoted so much of their time to the conservation of the public health and with such satisfying success.

Clearfield people greatly appreciate the efforts of Dr. Reilly and the Board of Health and rejoice that he will remain in the position which he has so ably and satisfactorily filled the past five years.

March 4 was fixed as the day for the presidential inauguration. The explanation is quite simple. The Congress of the confederation met the first Monday in March, 1789, as the day for the new government under the constitution to go into effect. ANOTHER HAT IN THE RING

The scramble for county offices promises to be wild and woolly during the coming year. With the primary election nine months away many men of the county have announced their intention of being candidates for the various offices. In this issue of THE PROGRESS Leno W. Edwards of Clearfield announces his candidacy for the office of District Attorney of Clearfield County. Mr. Edwards is well known all over the county and in thus announcing his candidacy at this early date his friends are given a chance to get to work for him at once.

TEMPERANCE FORCES BUSY

Temperance forces are more than busy circulating remonstrances against the granting of licenses in this county. Carriers of the remonstrance say that they are meeting with good success in their endeavors. The fight this year promises to be more than lukewarm and the Dry Federation are making great plans to assault the plea of necessity for license in the various towns and villages of this county. The first gun in the local campaign will be fired tomorrow night when Charles F. Swift the noted temperance lecturer of Philadelphia will speak at the Court House in the interest of the Dry Federation in favor of a dry county.

ON WITH THE DANCE

Penrose still insists that the impeachment charges against Brumbaugh shall be carried out. He promises that the light will yet be turned on the acts of Brumbaugh's official family. He is determined to wage a war of extinction on the Vane-Brumbaugh element or faction. All of which is directly in accord with what he stated his intentions were before the speakership controversy was settled by the election of Baldwin. Penrose should, by all means, proceed with his charges and insist that the light be turned on. It will indeed be a healthy thing for the party. Charges and counter-charges have been made. The public wants to know whether these things are true. To drop them now would be an acknowledgement that both factions are of the same stripe and do not desire the light turned on.

DUBOIS COUNCIL BOILS OVER

Since DuBois attained the dignity of being classed as a third class city she has encountered many ups and downs. There is always something doing.

Some allege that the new form of government is rapidly enabling the officers in power to build up a political machine and run things to suit themselves. Others incline to the belief that the present government by few officials is better. Whatever may be the truth of the matter all things are not running smooth over there. Council ousted several place holders at a recent meeting of council. Perhaps council really means to govern and means to put efficient men in the harness. Too often ousting is termed "political" instead of "an attempt to govern properly."

Can anyone imagine Clearfield Council following in the footsteps of BuBois?

Urges Everyone to Drink Glass of hot Water Before Breakfast

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of combustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and ptomain-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breathe, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

Remember inside bathing is more important than outside bathing, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing poor health, while the bowel pores do. Just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidney and bowels.

BANK PRESIDENT AT 34

HARVEY DOW GIBSON

Harvey Dow Gibson has become president of one of the great New York banks at thirty-four years of age. He has just been chosen to head the Liberty National Bank, one of the great commercial institutions of New York City.

Mr. Gibson is a native of North Conway, N. H. and a graduate of Bowdoin College in the class of 1902. He was first employed by the American Express Company in Boston and then in New York. Later with several business associates he obtained control of Raymond & Whitecomb Company, of which organization he became vice-president. When Seward Prosser, now president of the Bankers Trust Company, was made president of the Liberty National Bank some four years ago he invited Mr. Gibson to accompany him as assistant to the president.

AN EXAMPLE OF PRESENCE OF MIND

Last week-end I saw mother to her sister's and then motored out to Ethel's to spend the two days with her and her boy husband, "Bud," and her darling baby son.

After dinner we went into the living room for an evening of whist and conversation. About nine o'clock "Bud" said he would go down to the country grocery store and buy some new apple cider if we were not afraid to stay in the house along under the protection of baby, who was now asleep upstairs. Of course we didn't mind for such a short time, and we soon heard him whistling down the road.

Ethel, who was busily talking, had forgotten about the music box, and before we realized it the piece was completed and the needle scratching away on the record. Rising quickly, Ethel ran around the library table, on which a reading lamp stood, to stop it, and her arm knocked the lamp as she passed. It upset, and before long the beautiful table runner which she had taken such pains to embroider was in flames.

Quick as a flash she ran to the baby carriage which was standing in the back hall, and grabbing a thick blanket ket from it she returned and smothered the flames.

Little damage was done to the table, but the runner was ruined and the beautiful dull rose lamp shade which Ethel treasured so highly was in scorched shreds.

Of course she must have been frightened, but she did not know it. She kept her head and went about preventing further trouble in a quick and sensible way. I thought afterwards that very few people would have had the presence of mind which she showed in this instance.

By the time it was over, "Bud" returned, and when we told him excitedly what a narrow, narrow escape we had, he looked at Ethel as though he wanted to make sure things were no worse.

Although I realized Ethel felt badly over the loss of her beautiful lamp shade, her manner would have made me think differently. For she was soon laughing over the cider and telling us of her baby's pranks that afternoon. One would never have believed that she had narrowly averted a serious accident a few minutes before.

Her presence of mind in this incident, however, is quite what I should have expected of her. Ethel is one of the most wonderful girls it has ever been my pleasure to know.

MISUNDERSTOOD GENIUS IS "THE LITTLE LIAR"

Mae Marsh and Robert Harron Co. Starred in Play of Remarkable Heart Appeal

Maggie McDonald, the central figure of "The Little Liar," the new Triangle-Fine Arts play starring Mae Marsh and Robert Harron, which will be seen at the Opera House tomorrow evening is the daughter of a poor day laborer. She has a romantic temperament and consequently tells many remarkable fabrications about herself to the children of the neighborhood, who idolize her. Her parents, however, cannot see that she is anything but a little liar, so put her to work.

Her job is slavery in a cheap boarding house. The boarders soon become aware of her failing, but, finding her harmless, laugh at her. In disfavor with the proprietress because of her lies, Maggie is about to lose her job, when Dick Slade, a floorwalker in a large department store, who is one of the boarders, gets her a job as a cash girl.

Slade is really a thief and is working in conjunction with Fanny Smith, a shop lifter, who also boards at the house. One day after Fanny had made off with a quantity of valuable lace the theft is discovered, and Maggie's reputation for lying throws suspicion on her. She is sent to jail after the lace is found in her room, where Fanny has "planted" it.

In jail the unhappy child is given some poison tablets by a woman criminal whose cell she shares, with the admonition to take them rather than go to the penitentiary. Borrowing paper and pencil from the matron, Maggie writes a pathetic justification of her imaginative effusions, revealing the depths of her romantic little soul, and then takes the poison rather than battle longer with a world which totally misunderstands and grievously mistreats her.

FEW DROPS AND CORN LIFTS OUT

Says There is no Excuse for Cutting Corns and Inviting Lockjaw

Sore corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn can harmlessly be lifted right out with the fingers if you will apply directly upon the corn a few drops of freezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

It is claimed that at small cost one can get a quarter of an ounce of freezone at any drug store, which is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus without pain or soreness or the danger of infection.

This simple drug, while sticky, dries the moment it is applied and does not inflame or even irritate the surrounding tissue.

This announcement will interest many women here, for it is said that the present high-heel footwear is putting corns on practically every woman's feet.

who has taken an interest in Maggie, ferrets out the real criminals, and they are punished, but his discovery is too late to do Maggie any good. She leaves behind her pages of fiction which stamp her as a genius and Bobby writes his first real live newspaper story about her unhappy life and untimely death.

"THE LOST GIRL"

Special at the Globe Theatre Today

Christopher Race receives a letter from a Mr. Brown saying he would like to hire Scarlet Runner for a month's trip provided it meet his approval. Race sets out to make a record trip, but on the way he meets Paul Western, who is making a trip in his balloon. Christopher through sheer love of adventure is persuaded to forego his mission and goes with Western instead. They land near a large house in time to see a man apparently committing suicide. The balloon breaks loose and flies upward, but not before they have seen a lovely girl on the roof of the house who implores them to take her away. They try to descend but find themselves over water. They are forced to drift until they reach land again. Then they go to where they left the Scarlet Runner and the search for the girl and the house starts. They find both in an unexpected way and they arrive in time to present important evidence to the coroner's jury, clearing the girl of a charge of murder. Paul has fallen in love with the girl almost at first sight, and the feeling seems to be reciprocated. Thus does the Scarlet Runner win another bride, but not for its pallid owner.

NEW GAME LAWS PROPOSED

Harrisburg, Jan. 4.—Sportsmen and conservationists from different parts of the state met here today to consider proposed new legislation in which they are directly interested. The meeting was called by the state game commission.

The first bill considered will be the proposed codification of the game laws. The most radical change in existing provisions is the game commission wish to prevent heavy ter of deer and bear by hun-panies of hunters camping. It is proposed to have one camp act as captain and have all the large game when killed.

The session probably will run until tomorrow. The Fish and game department will have before the proposed codification of the laws.

RibbonsAt Before-The-War Prices

With the coming of the present great war came a great advance in the prices of ribbons but through our fortunate purchases we are in a position to offer ribbons at prices that are astonishingly low. There are all colors, plain and fancy patterns with a goodly sprinkling of the latter; all widths and priced at about what they would cost us if we had to go into the market and buy them today.

Fresh from the Makers at Prices that are Low

Saratoga Middies

This handy garment for the school girl is without an equal.

This is a new line with us but from the looks of the garments they should jump into almost instant popularity. They are trimmed with blue and other colors, and the workmanship is worthy of particular note.

$1Noteworthy Hosiery

We are more than proud of the women's hosiery that we offer and included in the lot are the famous good BURLSON and MEDALIA. Even tho there have been some sharp advances in hosiery prices we are selling youngsters we have the BEARSKIN and TWO-STEP. These two brands were made with an idea of withstanding the hard knocks that the little folks are bound to give them.

Buenos Aires, Dec. 15.—(By Mail)
—In view of the fact that the British blacklist hits some of the South American republics even more severely than it does the United States, the governments on this continent are waiting with keen anxiety for Washington's reply to Britain's latest note on the subject.

The Argentine view is that outside interference in the republic's domestic trade ought not to be tolerated regardless of British views. The consensus of opinion concerning the message sent in answer to the United States protest against the blacklist is fairly summed up by Editor Jorge cion, in the succinct comment:

Again for $1—While They Last

This Guaranteed Aluminum Cooker

The cost of Aluminum has doubled since we ordered these lifetime Cookers. At present prices, this offer would be impossible. So, in all probability, after our supply is exhausted, it cannot be made again.

Next week the grocers of this city will once more feature this Mother's Oats Cooker offer. And for the last time, we believe.

We have supplied Cookers now to over 1,000,000 homes. We have supplied these guaranteed Aluminum Cookers for $1 to Mother's Oats users. But this offer ends with our present supply, and probably forever. Unless Aluminum drops 50 per cent, we cannot again offer a Cooker like this for $1.

But next week only we make the offer below. You can get this Cooker for $1, by buying two of our cereals which should be cooked in it.

This offer is made to induce better cooking. To bring you Mother's Oats and Pettijohn's cooked in perfect form, with the flavor kept intact. Our reward will come in your doubled delight in these foods.

We ask the pictures just to show that you use our cereals. Unless you have the right flakes, right cooking does not help much. But, if you use Mother's Oats and Pettijohn's, this cooker is yours for $1. This is for one week only. Get the packages from any grocer named below.

One Week Only—Your Last Chance

Our Offer is This: Send us check or money order for $1 and two pictures of the Cooker cut from Mother's Oats packages and one picture of the Bear from the front of the Pettijohn's package—or, if you prefer, you may send us five pictures of the Cooker from Mother's Oats packages alone. These pictures must be mailed next week. We will mail the Cooker by parcel post prepaid.

Mother's Oats
The Extra-Delicious Vim-Food
Flaked from Queen Oats Only

Mother's Oats is made from queen grains only—just the big, plump, luscious oats.

No puny, starved grains are included. A bushel of the choicest oats yields only ten pounds of Mother's.

The result is a flavor that has won the world—a flavor which is matchless. Yet these large and luscious flakes cost you no extra price.

Nature stores in oats a wealth of vitality, which everybody needs. We want you to know this fascinating vim-food, made as we make it and cooked in our way.

Pettijohn's
Rolled Wheat with 25% Bran Flakes
A Modern Bran Dainty

Every doctor advises bran, as essential to right living. It is Nature's laxative. Everybody every day should eat it. It means better health, better spirits, sunnier days. Without it, our diet of fine food forces folks to drugs.

Pettijohn's is made to meet doctors' requirements. The bran is hidden in savory flakes of wheat. The food is a morning dainty which everybody likes. Yet it contains 25 per cent tender bran.

The bran is in flake form, which makes it doubly efficient. Ground bran will not do.

Try Pettijohn's one week. Note its delightful effects. Never again will you go back to a branless diet.

Then try Pettijohn's Flour. It is 75 per cent fine patent flour mixed with 25 per cent bran flakes. Use it like Graham flour in any recipe.

Pennsylvania Briefs

Sharon, Jan. 3.—Ex-President Taft is to be the guest of honor at the winter banquet of the Sharon Chamber of Commerce tonight.

New Cumberland, Jan. 3.—Mrs. Katie Felty, who recently was divorced from William Felty has resumed the name of Mrs. Shadow, her first husband's name. Felty was her third husband. She was Felty's fourth wife two of her predecessors having died and one having been divorced. Mrs. Shadow lives on Reno Street here.

Harrisburg, Jan. 3.—The legislative committee of the Pennsylvania State Educational Association is busy drafting into bill form the numerous recommendations for improvement to the school system which that body adopted at its meeting here last week. Most of the changes, it is said, can be incorporated in amendments to the school code. It is the plan of the educators to have them introduced early in the session.

Harrisburg, Jan. 4.—The state game commission met today for its annual meeting. Dr. H. J. Donaldson, of Williamsport, attended his first meeting. He was appointed to succeed the late Thomas Martindale, of Philadelphia, only last week.

The chief business today was the annual report of Secretary Joseph Kalbfus. It will not be published until after the governor has approved it.

Underpaid Postage.
Insufficient postage on letters is a serious handicap to American business abroad, reports our acting vice consul at Genoa, Italy. A letter from the United States to Italy bearing a two-cent stamp entails upon the recipient a payment of at least six cents as a penalty. "The poor impression upon Italian firms created by short paid letters," says the report, "becomes, finally, by repetition, very great. Special care in affixing the proper postage would bring ample returns by removing a cause of complaint which has exerted an unfavorable influence in foreign business."

Force of Habit.
He was an old merchant who had built up a big business by advertising "John," said his wife, "what do you want on your tombstone?" "Oh," he answered, "it isn't very important what the text is so long as it gets good space and is well displayed."—London Telegraph.

AVERTED A TRAGEDY.

A Perilous Situation and the Way It Was Mastered.

There is a striking illustration in Das Buch fur Alle of the fact that it is not necessary to roam over the world to find adventure. The German merchant of the story found it in his own peaceful house in the quiet town of his birth. It happened on his daughter's wedding day, about sixty years ago. The happy father was alternately welcoming the guests and bustling about attending to final details.

In one of the halls he met a maid carelessly carrying a lighted candle without its holder. He did not rebuke her, as she was not one of the regular servants, but had only been brought in to help for the occasion. In a short time she returned from the cellar, her arms full of bottles, but with no candle. The absence of the light sent a sickening thought sweeping over the merchant. Only the day before several barrels of gunpowder had been stored in the cellar, and one of them had been opened in order to get a sample for a customer.

"Where is that candle?" he asked her quickly, with his heart in his mouth.

"I had my hands full and couldn't bring it up," the maid answered. "Where did you leave it?"

"I stuck it in the black sand in the open barrel," she explained. But the merchant had not waited to hear her out. Into the hall and down the cellar steps he stumbled. His knees were shaking, his breath caught in his throat; death already seemed to have its grip upon him.

Just beneath the room in which the guests were assembled stood the fatal barrel, the burning tallow candle upright in the powder. To his horror he saw a long piece of burned-out wick sagging in the reddish flame. If that spark should fall! He made a desperate move toward the candle—and stopped. The slightest touch or breath might shake that glowing bit of wick into the powder. He heard the sound of laughter from above, and he trembled. He stared at the light, powerless to move.

Suddenly the end of the wick nodded, and with its movement the merchant recovered from his momentary paralysis. Cautionally he thrust both hands toward the candle; then, with a sudden squeeze, he smothered the wick and flame in his grasp. Never relaxing his hold, he carried the candle the length of the cellar, then he fainted.

WASTED TIME IN COURT.

How It Might Be Saved by Following the English System.

Professor Higgins is how waste of time is avoided in English courts and suggests that the same practice ought to be adopted in American courts. It is done by "leading questions," of which the following is an example in an action for personal injuries, where the fact of the injury is admitted, but the negligent act denied:

"Your name is John Doe, living at so and so. You are a painter by trade, and on May 1, 1914, you were on the Strand opposite the law courts and saw the accident when the plaintiff was run over by the defendant's bus, and you helped to pick the plaintiff up and carry him from the roadway?"

"To what is the witness answers 'Yes.' Now, in an American court the testimony to that one question and answer would have been the subject of at least eight distinct questions and eight distinct answers, and in the hands of some lawyers this information would not have been elicited short of twenty questions." "State your name to the jury?" "Where do you reside?" "What is your business?" "Where were you on May 1, 1914, at the hour of so and so?" "State what accident you saw there, if any?" "What did you do then?" And so on, and so on.

American courts are run in as leisurely manner as if there was nothing else on hand except the trial of the particular case at hand, whereas usually the court is weeks, often months, and sometimes a year behind in its docket.—Kansas City Star.

Ancient Abyssinia.

The Abyssinians are a race renowned for their courage and good looks. Of a deep brown in color, they are well formed and hardy, intelligent and fond of poverty, too, but their needs are very simple, and they live in primitive fashion in rough circular stone huts, thatched with grass. The history of Abyssinia dates very far back. Before Christ the country formed part of the ancient country of Ethiopia. The queen of Sheba was an Abyssinian queen, and the kings of Abyssinia claim descent from her.—London Spectator.

Cold Herring.

"Why," said a youngster to his older brother, "do herring have so many more illnesses than other fish?"

"Why says they do?" asked the youth addressed.

"Why," it's a fact, says that thousands upon thousands of them are cured every year."

Not to Be Deceived.

"Have you noticed the plays of Sophocles?" asked the seniors young woman.

"Oh, yes," replied Mr. Lowbrow. "I know everybody in both leagues. There's about any such play."—Washington Star.

Fikes Peak's Cyclopean Eye.

A writer in the Technical World Magazine, describing the immense height of Fikes peak, says:

"The cyclopean head of that most famous of mountains, Fikes peak, has been given an enormous eye. In Denver, seventy-five miles away, this eye can be seen looking in red fire on clear nights, and in Colorado Springs, fifteen miles away, the 'companion' on the front porch is likely to be shown up in a bright light at any moment by the eye railway's searchlight."

The giant light is 11,172 feet above sea level and is capable of flashing signals over most of central Colorado. It has been placed on a platform twenty-five feet above the summit house. Current is supplied by the turbines that convert the power of the peak streams into electricity. The searchlight is attached to a scannaphore that the operator moves at will, searching out the dark, beauty spots throughout the region or focusing upon sections of Colorado Springs and even Denver and Pueblo when the great banks of cloud do not blanket the hills far below."

Lost Skill of Ancients.

From the earliest periods of which we have historical records one of man's greatest problems has been to lift heavy loads rapidly and efficiently. Some of the greatest monuments of antiquity were built under conditions that involved lifting of heavy pieces of building material to great heights, but how it was done we do not know to this day. The manner in which the great stones were raised in Egypt has always been a mystery and probably always will be. It is certain, however, that the builders of these wonderful monuments were possessed of mechanical contrivances that were lost in the dark ages intervening between their time and ours or they possessed patience to a more remarkable degree than is exhibited in any race of men at the present time.—Engineering Magazine.

Which Of Them Wins Your Vote In This Newest Beauty Contest?

Not these days.

The society play is more and more coming into its own. Producers are learning many things, and one of them is the great attraction which this sort of play presents to women. They like to see the hero in chap, the heroine in culotte or tatters, when the story demands—but they also want to gaze upon heroes and heroines in evening clothes of the latest mode.

To be beautiful in an evening gown requires more than a pretty face. Shapely arms are most necessary. And there is many a pretty girl whose arms are too plump or too thin, whose elbows are prominent or her wrists bony.

A Los Angeles photographer, in a recent display of picture stars in evening gowns, selected four of Triangle's actresses as possessing unusual symmetry of arms and shoulders.

Norma Tammage, one of the quartette, has been starred in a number of Triangle-Fine Arts features, her latest vehicle being "The Social Secretary." Lucille Young, also of the Fine Arts studios, has appeared in several "siren" characterizations for the Triangle program, and has a prominent role in the new picture starring Sir Herbert Tree, "The Old Folks at Home."

Alice Taaffe, of the Triangle-Ince

forces, is seventeen years old. She had her first important role in "Not My Sister," with Besse Barricade, playing the role of the younger sister. Helen Gray, after finishing her education at a convent school, recently became one of the liveliest members of the Triangle Keystone family.

An Event of Timely Importance. An Event Providing The Unexpected Values In Dependable Furs

In announcing this fur sale we are simply following our merchandising policy. It is not necessary to mention here that furs have been advancing in price for the past year. The cause of this is very simple. The European countries are demanding great quantities of furs for use of their armies. Then again, there have been no furs imported to amount to anything in consequence of which America has been compelled to depend upon her own supplies to a very large extent. This then has meant a scarcity of dependable furs. However, in the face of these conditions we have been able to secure a stock of furs equal to any in past seasons. Here are fur scarfs, muffs and fur coats in a splendid collection of styles and in the favored furs of the season at prices that mean Sure, Substantial and Solid Savings. Below we list a few items.

$35.00 Jap mink sets $19.75
$25.00 Jap mink sets $9.75

Peace Dove Hovers Over First Meeting Of The Year

Session Very Mild One With Very Little Business of Importance To Come Before City Council

GEORGE GALLAHER IS NEW COUNCILMAN

The first regular meeting of council for 1917 was rather a mild affair, and an account of last week's meeting springing up the business for 1916 but very little was left on the slate for disposal. Heretofore council organized and elected the different borough officials annually, but since the amendment to the constitution providing that municipal elections should be held biennially and as a result there was nothing doing this time, all borough officials being holders until next year.

Tax collector Jacobs reported a appointment of Dr. W. E. Reilly as a member of the board of health to serve for a term of five years.

The matter of the vacancy caused by the resignation of John Seiler as a member of council from the First ward was taken up and Mr. Hagerty recommended the appointment of George W. Gallaher for the vacancy. The recommendation was unanimously adopted and Mr. Gallaher was declared the duly elected successor to Mr. Seiler to serve as councilman from the First ward until January 1, 1918, his successor to be elected to fill Mr. Seiler's unexpired term at the coming November municipal election.

The newly elected shade tree commission presented a list of rules and regulations for the government of the shade tree commission, as provided for in the general borough acts of 1915 and same were unanimously adopted.

Health Officer McCullough made complaint regarding condition of the Anderson lot at the west end of the Market street bridge stating that garbage was being dumped there and paper and other rubbish burned daily, much to the annoyance of persons living in the vicinity and passing that point daily. Burgess Callahan was directed to have nuisance complained of abated.

Engineer E. W. Hess reported at length on engineering matters and stated that the sanitary sewer on Seventh street was completed with the exception of the building of one manhole, the Nichols street sewer extension would be completed in a day or two and the West Fifth avenue sewer extension started this week.

There being no further business council adjourned to meet Wednesday evening, January 17th, 1917 at 8 o'clock.

War Saddens American Girls Who Married Titled Italians

Husbands and Sons of Former American Girls Are Almost Without Exception Bearing Arms

By John H. Hearley
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Rome, Dec. 13.—(By Mail)—Italy's war today lies heavily on the hearts of many American girls married to Italian noblemen. Some of these girls have given their husbands, others their sons to Savio's cause.

Princess Buoncompagni, who was Miss Draper of Boston and Washington, is spending a lonesome honeymoon here. Her husband had to rejoin his regiment immediately on his arrival in Rome.

Count Dentice del Frasso is one of the General Staff's motorcycle messengers. His wife was Georgiana White of St. Louis. She is the step-daughter of Henry Seigel, the one-time American merchant prince.

Princess Alessandro Ruspoli has two sons under arms. One is in the army and the other in the navy. She was formerly Eva Broadwood.

Countess Telfer, who was Ada Hungerford, has a son in the army. Edward Kingsland, who became an Italian citizen after his widowed mother married Prince Camporeale, has been dangerously wounded at the front. He is a cavalry officer and was decorated for gallant conduct in both the Libyan war and this war. Princess Camporeale originally was Mary Bonny, a celebrated New Jersey belle.

The son of Duchess Luigi Lante della Rovere is serving with the Italian troops in Macedonia. He is called Don Luigi Lante della Rovere. The Duchess was known to American society as Mathilde Davis.

One of the sons of Princess Poggio Saso Ruspoli is an aviator. The other is in the automobile service. She was formerly Josephine Curtis of New York.

All these titled Americans are also doing their own bit for their adopted country. Red Cross nursing, caring for widowed and orphan children are the most popular services. But the military sewing rooms and the food stations attract their quota.

CENTRAL POWERS PREPARING NEW PEACE OFFER

Reply to Allies Refusal Will Contain List of Demands and Possible Concessions

GERMANY FACING BREAKDOWN

By Ed. L. Keen

London, Jan. 4.—(By United Press)—Persistent reports from Italy and Switzerland today that Germany is to make answer to the allied refusal of the peace offer—in a new reply which will list Germany's demands and concessions—aroused the greatest interest here today. Legano, Switzerland also has received reports of this note. From Rome came the same news and a prominent newspaper acknowledged the receipt of news from Germany that she was preparing a counter reply—"one that would be less ambiguous as to conditions and terms of peace." Both of these reports seemed to strengthen the belief with regard to dispatches of yesterday that Germany is on the brink of a social and economic breakdown which makes peace proposals absolutely necessary. One theory fairly supported in certain quarters is that the conference held yesterday between American Ambassador Gerard and Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg had to do with a further German note.

"Miss Colbert Buried"

Philadelphia, Jan. 4.—Despite the sordid stories of her life brought out in the murder trial the friends of Mrs. Grace Colbert Roberts purchased for her a silver casket costing $450. A great crowd followed the funeral party from the apartments to the cemetery—many in automobiles.

"Wilson Has Terms"

Amsterdam, Jan. 4.—The Cologne Volks evening today published a statement made by Count Andrássy that German peace terms are now in the hands of President Wilson.

TERSE TOLD TALES

Les Darcy take note: He who fights and runs away will live to pick off the American dollars if he's good enough fighter.

Bill Donovan expects to win the American league pennant. But so does Connie Mack.

Ban Johnson is said to be contemplating moving the Washington club into the American league.

And in the same day it was rumored it would be taken away from this country and placed in Brooklyn.

Dr. Swift is a noted orator and a powerful exponent of the dry question. The Dry Federation is to be congratulated on their being able to get this able man to come and labor with them. They have set out to make a hard campaign against the granting of licenses and are already hard at work to attain the end they believe to be right.

Miss Eliza Fletcher has returned to her home in Everett after a visit with relatives here.

Mrs. A. W. Harks and daughter Elizabeth of Philipsburg were shopping in Clearfield today.

Mrs. Ruth Barnett and son Robert have returned from Madeira where they spent New Years.

Mrs. F. L. Carter of Wilcox is visiting relatives here.

LATE TELEGRAPHIC FLASHES

Taxi Man Arrested
Pittsburgh, Jan. 4.—Word was received here this afternoon that Bernard W. Lewis, a son of Wannard Lewis of Amberson Ave., East End, Pittsburgh was under arrest in Philadelphia in connection with the Colbert case. The charge against him it was said is a technical one—the defrauding of a taxi-cab company.

Lewis is connected with the Findley Lewis Coal Company. His home is 25 Amberson Ave. Efforts to get in communication with members of his family immediately were futile. The telephone operator saying that "the receiver was off its hook and they don't answer." The family is wealthy and very prominent.

Likely the Man
Philadelphia, Jan. 4.—A "flier" calling for the arrest of Bernard W. Lewis of Pittsburgh who is believed to have been in the taxi which stopped at the apartments of Maizie Colbert was sent broadcast this afternoon. The "flier" accuses Lewis of having defrauded Elwood Powell a taxicab driver of $19.00 fare. Police denied they connected him with complicity in the murder itself. Information has come to them the police said that created the belief that Lewis was in the taxi last Friday.

"Lawson Probe Tomorrow"
Washington, Jan. 4.—Investigation by the house rules committee of the leak charges will start tomorrow with Representative Wood, of Indiana, as the first witness, the committee announced today. Thomas W. Lawson who charged that $60,000,000 was cleaned up will be subpoenaed by wire.

Warrenites Recall the Remarks of Grace Roberts There

On Leaving Little Town for Philadelphia She Promised to "Make the Snobs Sit Up and Take Notice"

SHE TOOK HER FAMILY TO PHILADELPHIA

Warren, Pa., Jan. 4.—(By United Press)—When Maizie Colbert packed her old fashioned suit case in the attic of the Exchange hotel here six years ago preparing for her departure to Philadelphia she promised "to make the snobs sit up and take notice or die in the attempt." This is today's chief news in this place and Kane—the little neighboring town nestled in the hills of northwestern Pennsylvania.

Maizie was born in Kane and spent 1 of her 25 years of life there. Twelve of them in the school from which she was graduated; then she left for Warren and became a waitress in the Exchange Hotel where her beauty attracted the admiration of traveling salesman, actors and other visitors.

She rejected their advances all but the son of one of the most prominent and wealthy men in Warren. She became engaged to him but his family objected and finally succeeded in breaking the engagement.

That was her first love affair of any kind and was her last one. The name of the young man to whom she was engaged is withheld by them for unexplained reasons; except that they say "he loved her and Maizie loved him, so let it rest." It was this that made her turn against life and prompted her threat.

Maizie's father was a street worker in Warren and was later boss of a three men "gang" and later was street commissioner. The family remained in Kane with the exception of Maizie who went to Philadelphia six years ago and where her fatal beauty resulted in her death. She sent for the family shortly after her arrival there and provided generously toward their support.

Although there is no perfect clock, the one that nearest approaches perfection in this country, the standard clock of the United States, is kept in a glass case in a dark underground vault in the Naval Observatory at Washington, where it is guarded by the Government, and is constantly by observation made to and sun.

Many persons have with March 4 was fixed as the day for the presidential inauguration. The explanation is quite simple. The congress of the confederation met the first Monday in March, 1789, as the day for the new government under the constitution to go into effect. Because the first Monday of March of that year fell on the 4th the first congress under the constitution met March 4 as the day for the beginning and ending of the terms of the president and vice president and members of congress.

Records Prove Contention That Control Makes The Pitcher

Mathematics and Statistics Prove Many Claims of Base Ball Experts

By H. C. Hamilton
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Jan. 4.—The test of pitching greatness, the ability to hold runs to a minimum, and still keep from putting every ounce of strength into the effort, is slapped right up in front of the baseball public and made to stick with greater force in recent pitching records, perhaps than ever before.

Ferdinand Schupp, John McGraw's young sensation, was at the top of the list in the National league for last season, but he scarcely counts in such a computation of figures. But Grover Cleveland Alexander, the real leader of the league, shows what a real pitcher, one with oodles of control, can do.

Alexander appeared in forty-eight games during the season, and pitched thirty-eight complete contests. Only one man, Meadows of St. Louis, took part in more games fifty-one but even he did not approach Alexander's record of completed games. The figures credit him with going the distance on only eleven occasions.

Not only did the Philadelphia marvel finish best in thirty-three of the games he pitched, but he pitched baseballs to more batters than any other man, having faced an average of 500 batters. Yet with all these facts facing him he held his wild pitches down to just three and hit only two men. He issued only fifty base on balls, slightly more than an average of one each game. He was struck, however, for 222 hits and was the only National league pitcher to pass 200.

Other pitchers faced more than 1,000 batters, and nearly every one of them has a wilder record than Alexander shows. When it is considered that the National league established a new record for the number of shutouts, his superb method of working is best appreciated. He kept the opposition away from the plate on 116 occasions. Not another pitcher has his shutouts higher than 6.

ANOTHER HAT IN THE RING

The scramble for county offices promises to be wild and woolly during the coming year. With the primary election nine months away many men of the county have announced their intention of being candidates for the various offices. In this issue of THE PROGRESS Leno W. Edwards of Clearfield announces his candidacy for the office of District Attorney of Clearfield County. Mr. Edwards is well known all over the county and in thus announcing his candidacy at this early date his friends are given a chance to get to work for him at once.

TEMPERANCE FORCES BUSY

Temperance forces are more than busy circulating remonstrances against the granting of licenses in this county. Carriers of the remonstrance say that they are meeting with good success in their endeavors. The fight this year promises to be more than lukewarm and the Dry Federation are making great plans to assault the plea of necessity for license in the various towns and villages of this county. The first gun in the local campaign will be fired tomorrow night when Charles F. Swift the noted temperance lecturer of Philadelphia will speak at the Court House in the interest of the Dry Federation in favor of a dry county.

ON WITH THE DANCE

Penrose still insists that the impeachment charges against Brumbaugh shall be carried out. He promises that the light will yet be turned on the acts of Brumbaugh's official family. He is determined to wage a war of extinction on the Vane-Brumbaugh element or faction. All of which is directly in accord with what he stated his intentions were before the speakership controversy was settled by the election of Baldwin. Penrose should, by all means, proceed with his charges and insist that the light be turned on. It will indeed be a healthy thing for the party. Charges and counter-charges have been made. The public wants to know whether these things are true. To drop them now would be an acknowledgement that both factions are of the same stripe and do not desire the light turned on.

DUBOIS COUNCIL BOILS OVER

Since DuBois attained the dignity of being classed as a third class city she has encountered many ups and downs. There is always something doing.

Some allege that the new form of government is rapidly enabling the officers in power to build up a political machine and run things to suit themselves. Others incline to the belief that the present government by few officials is better. Whatever may be the truth of the matter all things are not running smooth over there. Council ousted several place holders at a recent meeting of council. Perhaps council really means to govern and means to put efficient men in the harness. Too often ousting is termed "political" instead of "an attempt to govern properly."

Can anyone imagine Clearfield Council following in the footsteps of BuBois?

Dooley's Drug Store
Market and Third Sts.SAYS BODY IS A POISON FACTORY

Urges Everyone to Drink Glass of hot Water Before Breakfast

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of combustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and ptomain-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breathe, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

Remember inside bathing is more important than outside bathing, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing poor health, while the bowel pores do. Just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidney and bowels.

BANK PRESIDENT AT 34

HARVEY DOW GIBSON

Harvey Dow Gibson has become president of one of the great New York banks at thirty-four years of age. He has just been chosen to head the Liberty National Bank, one of the great commercial institutions of New York City.

Mr. Gibson is a native of North Conway, N. H. and a graduate of Bowdoin College in the class of 1902. He was first employed by the American Express Company in Boston and then in New York. Later with several business associates he obtained control of Raymond & Whitecomb Company, of which organization he became vice-president. When Seward Prosser, now president of the Bankers Trust Company, was made president of the Liberty National Bank some four years ago he invited Mr. Gibson to accompany him as assistant to the president.

AN EXAMPLE OF PRESENCE OF MIND

Last week-end I saw mother to her sister's and then motored out to Ethel's to spend the two days with her and her boy husband, "Bud," and her darling baby son.

After dinner we went into the living room for an evening of whist and conversation. About nine o'clock "Bud" said he would go down to the country grocery store and buy some new apple cider if we were not afraid to stay in the house along under the protection of baby, who was now asleep upstairs. Of course we didn't mind for such a short time, and we soon heard him whistling down the road.

Ethel, who was busily talking, had forgotten about the music box, and before we realized it the piece was completed and the needle scratching away on the record. Rising quickly, Ethel ran around the library table, on which a reading lamp stood, to stop it, and her arm knocked the lamp as she passed. It upset, and before long the beautiful table runner which she had taken such pains to embroider was in flames.

Quick as a flash she ran to the baby carriage which was standing in the back hall, and grabbing a thick blanket ket from it she returned and smothered the flames.

Little damage was done to the table, but the runner was ruined and the beautiful dull rose lamp shade which Ethel treasured so highly was in scorched shreds.

Of course she must have been frightened, but she did not know it. She kept her head and went about preventing further trouble in a quick and sensible way. I thought afterwards that very few people would have had the presence of mind which she showed in this instance.

By the time it was over, "Bud" returned, and when we told him excitedly what a narrow, narrow escape we had, he looked at Ethel as though he wanted to make sure things were no worse.

Although I realized Ethel felt badly over the loss of her beautiful lamp shade, her manner would have made me think differently. For she was soon laughing over the cider and telling us of her baby's pranks that afternoon. One would never have believed that she had narrowly averted a serious accident a few minutes before.

Her presence of mind in this incident, however, is quite what I should have expected of her. Ethel is one of the most wonderful girls it has ever been my pleasure to know.

MISUNDERSTOOD GENIUS IS "THE LITTLE LIAR"

Mae Marsh and Robert Harron Co-Starring in Play of Remarkable Heart Appeal

Maggie McDonald, the central figure of "The Little Liar," the new Triangle-Fine Arts play starring Mae Marsh and Robert Harron, which will be seen at the Opera House tomorrow evening is the daughter of a poor day laborer. She has a romantic temperament and consequently tells many remarkable fabrications about herself to the children of the neighborhood, who idolize her. Her parents, however, cannot see that she is anything but a little liar, so put her to work.

Her job is slavery in a cheap boarding house. The boarders soon become aware of her failing, but, finding her lies harmless, laugh at her. In disfavor with the proprietress because of her lies, Maggie is about to lose her job, when Dick Slade, a floorwalker in a large department store, who is one of the boarders, gets her a job as a cash girl.

Slade is really a thief and is working in conjunction with Fanny Smith, a shop lifter, who also boards at the house. One day after Fanny had made off with a quantity of valuable lace the theft is discovered, and Maggie's reputation for lying throws suspicion on her. She is sent to jail after the lace is found in her room, where Fanny has "planted" it.

In jail the unhappy child is given some poison tablets by a woman criminal whose cell she shares, with the admonition to take them rather than go to the penitentiary. Borrowing paper and pencil from the matron, Maggie writes a pathetic justification of her imaginative effusions, revealing the depths of her romantic little soul, and then takes the poison rather than battle longer with a world which totally misunderstands and grievously mistreats her.

FEW DROPS AND CORN LIFTS OUT

Says There is no Excuse for Cutting Corns and Inviting Lockjaw

Sore corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn can harmlessly be lifted right out with the fingers if you will apply directly upon the corn a few drops of freezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

It is claimed that at small cost one can get a quarter of an ounce of freezone at any drug store, which is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus without pain or soreness or the danger of infection.

This simple drug, while sticky, dries the moment it is applied and does not inflame or even irritate the surrounding tissue.

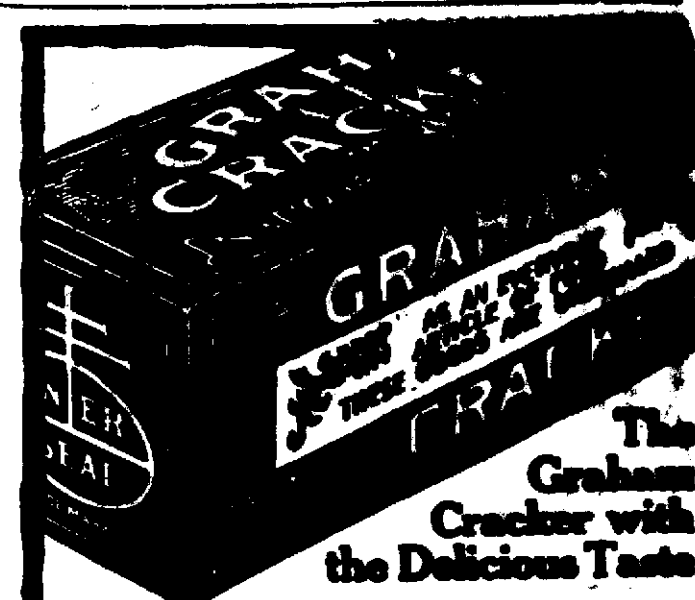

This announcement will interest many women here, for it is said that the present high-heel footwear is putting corns on practically every woman's feet.

"THE LOST GIRL"

Christopher Race receives a letter from a Mr. Brown saying he would like to hire Scarlet Runner for a month's trip provided it meets his approval. Race sets out to make a record trip, but on the way he meets Paul Western, who is making a trip in his balloon. Christopher through sheer love of adventure is persuaded to forego his mission and goes with Western instead. They land near a large house in time to see a man apparently committing suicide. The balloon breaks loose and flies upward, but not before they have seen a lovely girl on the roof of the house who implores them to take her away. They try to descend but find themselves over water. They are forced to drift until they reach land again. Then they go to where they left the Scarlet Runner and the search for the girl and the house starts. They find both in an unexpected way and they arrive in time to present important evidence to the coroner's jury, clearing the girl of a charge of murder. Paul has fallen in love with the girl almost at first sight, and the feeling seems to be reciprocated. Thus does the Scarlet Runner win another bride, but not for its pallid owner.

Harrisburg, Jan. 4.—Sportsmen and conservationists from different parts of the state met here today to consider proposed new legislation in which they are directly interested. The meeting was called by the state game commission.

The first bill considered will be the proposed codification of the game laws. The most radical change in existing provisions is the game commission wish to prevent heavy loss of deer and bear by hunting parties of hunters camping. It is proposed to have one camp act as captain and have all the large game when killed. The session probably will run until tomorrow. The Fish and Game department will have before it a proposed modification of the laws.

SOUTH AMERICA ANXIOUSLY AWAITS ANSWER TO BRITISH BLACKLIST NOTE

Buenos Aires, Dec. 15.—(By Mail)—In view of the fact that the British blacklist hits some of the South American republics even more severely than it does the United States, the governments on this continent are waiting with keen anxiety for Washington's reply to Britain's latest note on the subject.

The Argentine view is that outside interference in the republic's domestic trade ought not to be tolerated regardless of British views. The consensus of opinion concerning the message sent in answer to the United States protest against the blacklist is fairly summed up by Editor Jorge Mitre of the influential paper La Nacion, in the succinct comment: "Words!"

Pennsylvania Briefs

Sharon, Jan. 3.—Ex-President Taft is to be the guest of honor at the winter banquet of the Sharon Chamber of Commerce tonight.

New Cumberland, Jan. 3.—Mrs. Katie Felty, who recently was divorced from William Felty has resumed the name of Mrs. Shadow, her first husband's name. Felty was her third husband. She was Felty's fourth wife two of her predecessors having died and one having been divorced. Mrs. Shadow lives on Reno Street here.

Harrisburg, Jan. 3.—The legislative committee of the Pennsylvania State Educational Association is busy drafting into bill form the numerous recommendations for improvement to the school system which that body adopted at its meeting here last week.

Most of the changes, it is said, can be incorporated in amendments to the school code. It is the plan of the educators to have them introduced early in the session.

Harrisburg, Jan. 4.—The state game commission met today for its annual meeting. Dr. H. J. Donaldson, of Williamsport, attended his first meeting. He was appointed to succeed the late Thomas Martindale, of Philadelphia, only last week.

The chief business today was the annual report of Secretary Joseph Kalbfus. It will not be published until after the governor has approved it.

Underpaid Postage.
Insufficient postage on letters is a serious handicap to American business abroad, reports our acting vice consul at Genoa, Italy. A letter from the United States to Italy bearing a two-cent stamp entails upon the recipient a payment of at least six cents as a penalty. "The poor impression upon Italian firms created by short paid letters," says the report, "becomes, finally, by repetition, very great. Special care in affixing the proper postage would bring ample returns by removing a cause of complaint which has exerted an unfavorable influence in foreign business."

Force of Habit.
He was an old merchant who had built up a big business by advertising "John," said his wife, "what do you want on your tombstone?"
"Oh," he answered, "it isn't very important what the text is so long as it gets good space and is well displayed."—London Telegraph.

AVERTED A TRAGEDY.

A Perilous Situation and the Way It Was Mastered.

There is a striking illustration in Das Buch fur Alle of the fact that it is not necessary to roam over the world to find adventure. The German merchant of the story found it in his own peaceful house in the quiet town of his birth. It happened on his daughter's wedding day, about sixty years ago. The happy father was alternately welcoming the guests and bustling about attending to final details.

In one of the halls he met a maid carelessly carrying a lighted candle without its holder. He did not rebuke her, as she was not one of the regular servants, but had only been brought in to help for the occasion. In a short time she returned from the cellar, her arms full of bottles, but with no candle. The absence of the light sent a sickening thought sweeping over the merchant. Only the day before several barrels of gunpowder had been stored in the cellar, and one of them had been opened in order to get a sample for a customer.

"Where is that candle?" he asked her quickly, with his heart in his mouth.

"I had my hands full and couldn't bring it up," the maid answered. "Where did you leave it?"

"I stuck it in the black sand in the open barrel," she explained.

But the merchant had not waited to hear her out. Into the hall and down the cellar steps he stumbled. His knees were shaking, his breath caught in his throat; death already seemed to have its grip upon him. Just beneath the room in which the guests were assembled stood the fatal barrel, the burning tallow candle upright in the powder. To his horror he saw a long piece of burned-out wick sagging in the reddish flame. If that spark should fall! He made a desperate move toward the candle—and stopped. The slightest touch or breath might shake that glowing bit of wick into the powder. He heard the sound of laughter from above, and he trembled. He stared at the light, powerless to move.

Suddenly the end of the wick nodded, and with its movement the merchant recovered from his momentary paralysis. Cautionally he thrust both hands toward the candle; then, with a sudden squeeze, he smothered the wick and flame in his grasp. Never relaxing his hold, he carried the candle the length of the cellar, then he fainted.

WASTED TIME IN COURT.

How It Might Be Saved by Following the English System.

Professor Higgins is how waste of time is avoided in English courts and suggests that the same practice ought to be adopted in American courts. It is done by "leading questions," of which the following is an example in an action for personal injuries, where the fact of the injury is admitted, but the negligent act denied:

"Your name is John Doe, living at so and so. You are a painter by trade, and on May 1, 1914, you were on the Strand opposite the law courts and saw the accident when the plaintiff was run over by the defendant's bus, and you helped to pick the plaintiff up and carry him from the roadway?"

"To what is the witness answers 'Yes.' Now, in an American court the testimony to that one question and answer would have been the subject of at least eight distinct questions and eight distinct answers, and in the hands of some lawyers this information would not have been elicited short of twenty questions." "State your name to the jury?" "Where do you reside?" "What is your business?" "Where were you on May 1, 1914, at the hour of so and so?" "State what accident you saw there, if any?" "What did you do then?" And so on, and so on.

American courts are run in as leisurely manner as if there was nothing else on hand except the trial of the particular case at hand, whereas usually the court is weeks, often months, and sometimes a year behind in its docket.—Kansas City Star.

Ancient Abyssinia.

The Abyssinians are a race renowned for their courage and good looks. Of a deep brown in color, they are well formed and hardy, intelligent and fond of poverty too, but their needs are very simple, and they live in primitive fashion in rough circular stone huts, thatched with grass. The history of Abyssinia dates very far back. Before Christ the country formed part of the ancient country of Ethiopia. The queen of Sheba was an Abyssinian queen, and the kings of Abyssinia claim descent from her.—London Spectator.

Clock Herring.

"Why," said a youngster to his older brother, "do herring have so many more illnesses than other fish?"

"Why says they do?" asked the youth addressed.

"Why it's fact, says—that thousands upon thousands of them are cured every year."

Not to Be Deceived.

"Have you noticed the plays of Sophocles?" asked the seniors young woman.

"Oh, yes," replied Mr. Lowbrow. "I know everybody in both leagues. There's about any such play."—Washington Star.

Fikes Peak's Cyclopean Eye.

A writer in the Technical World Magazine, describing the immense Fikes or Pike's peak, says:

"The cyclopean head of that most famous of mountains, Fikes peak, has been given an enormous eye. In Denver, seventy-five miles away, this eye can be seen looking in and fro on clear nights, and in Colorado Springs, fifteen miles away, the 'eyeball' on the front peak is likely to be shown up in a bright light at any moment by the one railway searchlight."

The giant light is 11,172 feet above sea level and is capable of flashing signals over most of central Colorado. It has been placed on a platform twenty-five feet above the summit house. Current is supplied by the turbines that convert the power of the peak streams into electricity. The searchlight is attached to a scannaphore that the operator moves at will, searching out the dark, beauty spots throughout the region or focusing upon sections of Colorado Springs and even Denver and Pueblo when the great banks of cloud do not blanket the furies far below."

Lost Skill of Ancients.

From the earliest periods of which we have historical records one of man's greatest problems has been to lift heavy loads rapidly and efficiently. Some of the greatest monuments of antiquity were built under conditions that involved lifting of heavy pieces of building material to great heights, but how it was done we do not know to this day. The manner in which the great stones were raised in Egypt has always been a mystery and probably always will be. It is certain, however, that the builders of these wonderful monuments were possessed of mechanical contrivances that were lost in the dark ages intervening between their time and ours or they possessed patience to a more remarkable degree than is exhibited in any race of men at the present time.—Engineering Magazine.

Which Of Them Wins Your Vote In This Newest Beauty Contest?

Not these days.

The society play is more and more coming into its own. Producers are learning many things, and one of them is the great attraction which this sort of play presents to women. They like to see the hero in chap, the heroine in culotte or tatters, when the story demands—but they also want to gaze upon heroes and heroines in evening clothes of the latest mode.

To be beautiful in an evening gown requires more than a pretty face. Shapely arms are most necessary. And there is many a pretty girl whose arms are too plump or too thin, whose elbows are prominent or her wrists bony.

A Los Angeles photographer, in a recent display of picture stars in evening gowns, selected four of Triangle's actresses as possessing unusual symmetry of arms and shoulders.

Norma Tammage, one of the quartette, has been starred in a number of Triangle-Fine Arts features, her latest vehicle being "The Social Secretary." Lucille Young, also of the Fine Arts studios, has appeared in several "siren" characterizations for the Triangle program, and has a prominent role in the new picture starring Sir Herbert Tree, "The Old Folks at Home."

Alice Taaffe, of the Triangle-Ince

forces, is seventeen years old. She had her first important role in "Not My Sister," with Besse Barricade, playing the liveliest members of the Triangle the role of the younger sister. Helen Keystone family.

SALE BEGINS
Friday, January 5

An Event of Timely Importance. An Event Providing The Unexpected Values In Dependable Furs

In announcing this fur sale we are simply following our merchandising policy. It is not necessary to mention here that furs have been advancing in price for the past year. The cause of this is very simple. The European countries are demanding great quantities of furs for use of their armies. Then again, there have been no furs imported to amount to anything in consequence of which America has been compelled to depend upon her own supplies to a very large extent. This then has meant a scarcity of dependable furs. However, in the face of these conditions we have been able to secure a stock of furs equal to any in past seasons. Here are fur scarfs, muffs and fur coats in a splendid collection of styles and in the favored furs of the season at prices that mean Sure, Substantial and Solid Savings. Below we list a few items.
